MOHOLOHOLO

The next two nights are spent at Moholoholo Forest Camp with beautiful views of the northern Drakensburg Mountains. Accommodation is in en-suite thatched cottages, each with a small fridge and a bbq area. Time can be spent on the deck overlooking a waterhole, and evenings around a campfire listening to the sounds of Africa at night. A night drive can be arranged

Day 2 A relaxed bush walk on the wildlife reserve before breakfast and then a visit to the Cheetah Breeding Centre. Time to relax around the pool before your night drive to spot those nocturnal animals.

Day 3 After breakfast you will have a programme at Moholoholo Rehabilitation Centre. It is situated in the shadow of the majestic “Mariepskop” which forms part of the mighty Drakensberg Mountains. The unique Wildlife Rehabilitation Centre is a home to many of South Africa’s abandoned, injured and poisoned wildlife. Moholoholo Wildlife Rehabilitation Centre is extremely proud of its efforts in wildlife education in South Africa. “At Moholoholo we are often faced with the difficult decision of what to do with an injured or poisoned animal which will not be able to be released back into the wild. As a result, we have a number of “permanent residents” at the centre and at our own cost we use them as “ambassadors” for their respective species” Brian Jones

Marloth Park is a wildlife sanctuary situated on the southern boundary of the Kruger National Park. Marloth has its own wildlife and boasts four of the big five with the exception of Elephant, however as the Crocodile River forms the boundary between Marloth Park and the Kruger National Park so you are likely to spot elephants playing in the river. Game such as Kudu, Zebra, Giraffe, Blue wildebeest, Nyala, Impala, Warthog and plenty more aren't restricted by fences and roam freely between the units that are built on 1500 hectares. With the dangerous game restricted you can take a walk along the river or a mountain bike ride on many dirt roads and is a birder's paradise.
